Booktalk!

Jack is a border collie. His life began on a farm with his parents and other border collies, along with hundreds of sheep. The job of a border collie is hard, but rewarding.

Jack was given his first chance to herd the sheep when he was still a pup. It was a very exciting day – until the fire came, the fire that destroyed the life he knew and loved. So without family or sheep, Jack moved on.

He found shelter with some fine people, smart people, and a very mean man. Jack's name was always changing and his life was very hard. But once he met Luke and became Jack, he knew he would survive. But would he ever be back on a sheep farm doing what he was trained to do?
